Workers Rights

Pitt's Students In Solidarity

We the undersigned, demand that the ownership of the Pittsburgh Pirates take immediate action protecting the rights of sweatshop workers who sew our logo.

1. The strike at New Era's Derby, NY factory by workers who sew Pirate baseball caps is a stand for manufacturing jobs that are safe and provide a living wage to families. The Pittsburgh Pirates should stand with us, the people and withdraw all New Era products from retail outlets inside PNC Park if the strike is not fairly resolved by opening pitch 2002.
2. The Pittsburgh Pirates share responsibility with sweatshop bosses for the gross violations of civil and union organizing rights where the Pirate logo is sewn. Pirate fans have a right to expect this team's logo, our logo, is sewn under conditions that respect basic human dignity by paying a living wage and respecting civil rights. The Pirates must provide Full Public Disclosure of factory locations and participate in efforts to verify that the logo is being reproduced under decent conditions.
3. The Pittsburgh Pirates and its Minor League teams can best protect the rights of workers by maintaining multi-year contracts with suppliers who guarantee the logos will be reproduced and sewn onto garments in a single location for entire length of the contract.

We are baseball fans, students and taxpayers who financed PNC Park and this is our team; we demand change.
