

IWW Web Administrator

The IWW.ORG domain, network, and servers are the collective property of the IWW membership and shall serve the needs of the membership as a whole. The IWW.ORG network shall serve as the primary Internet communications network for the IWW, including web sites, email lists, membership forums, email user accounts, and Internet sub domains.

The administration of these resources requires skilled members and oversight to provide efficient, reliable service to the IWW membership in a timely fashion, and maintain the highest standards of accountability. For this reason a Web Administrator for the unions IWW.ORG domain, network, servers and email systems will be appointed by and report to the GEB.

The Web Administrator is responsible for ensuring that the IWW.ORG network and programs are adequately maintained, that all expenses incurred by the network are paid in a timely fashion, and that all requests for service from the membership are answered in a timely fashion.

The Web Administrator is responsible for maintaining contact with the General Executive Board and the membership, preparing an annual budget and annual reports for the GEB and the General Assembly, which will be printed in the GOB once a year minimum. The Web Administrator may designate certain sections of the network, including domains, sections of the web-site, email accounts, email lists, and forums, etc, as the responsibility of appropriate bodies of the IWW, including the General Administration, the General Executive Board, Committees, Industrial Departments, Industrial Unions, Branches, Shops, Delegates, and Members. At their discretion they may invite other members in good standing with necessary skills to assist in their duties.

While content shall be the responsibility of the Web Administrator, or designated subsections, the General Executive Board will maintain ultimate oversight over the network and its editorial policy (as per the IWW constitution). The Web Administer position will be appointed by the GEB to serve a one year term with no term limits. At the GEB's annual winter meeting the board shall evaluate the Web Administrators work, review their appointment for the position, discuss policy changes and may appoint a liaison or representative of the Board to work with the Web Master to give oversight and help set policies during the year.

Should in the future the union integrate the IWW.ORG domain, website, servers and email systems with other aspects of the administration, the GEB shall reevaluate the duties and role of the Web Administrator.
