

Thanks to the Three Rivers Community Fund for cash infusion. Big SOLIDARITY GREETING to those Wobblies and Wob supporters who have been paying the phone bill and making problems go away. You know who you are. This campaign's engine is the printing press. 60% of all donations to IU 450 go directly onto the press. Get on our mailing list – local or national – by sending 10 bucks to POB 99416, Pittsburgh, PA 15213. Make checks payable to IWW IU 450 Pittsburgh. We will be on the press again in the blink of an eye.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS • HUMAN RIGHTS • CIVIL RIGHTS • WORKERS' RIGHTS • INTERNATIONAL LAW

Major League Baseball Copyrighted Logos are sewn, stamped and printed onto caps, t-shirts, gym bags and towels in sweatshops all over the globe. Major League Baseball can help defend workers' rights in all of these factories. It is the biggest single corporate licensor in the world!

Thousands of students across the country have had direct experience negotiating with copyright licensors in defense of sweatshop workers. That experience includes Full Public Disclosure of factory locations and working conditions, Codes of Conduct that require adherence to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and Civil Rights, and Independent Monitoring by worker advocates of factory conditions.

United Students Against Sweatshops is organized on 150 campuses. There are chapters near almost all of Major League Baseball's stadium locations. USAS has direct access to 5,000 – 10,000 college students across the country. The capacity for a coordinated national campaign on a new target has emerged. IWW IU 450 is proposing Major League Baseball as the new target.

Major League Baseball: we know this boss. For six months of the year, thirty cities across the country revolve around the Major League Baseball schedule. We are proposing a campaign that will walk toe to toe with the local marketing campaigns. Major League Baseball's stuffing at the public trough for stadiums is one of the best-documented corporate plunderings of our history. This boss's politics are transparent.

Education. Education. Education. There has been no public relations victory like the public sentiment against sweatshops. Transforming PR victories into education and struggle is what IWW IU 450 does. Let's educate in a struggle with Major League Baseball.

Let's go to press! High School students in this area are starved for anti-sweatshop information and an organization to support campus groups. The Union Halls have room for anti-sweatshop representatives at their meetings.

The stadiums are the right place for the anti-sweatshop struggle to come to a head. These stadiums belong to the people. Working people go there. The media is there. Many of the stadiums are located in oppressed communities. The stadiums are the space we need to extend our civil rights to sweatshop workers in struggle.

ANTI-SWEATSHOP STRUGGLE IS A RECIPE FOR UNITY
